Were you prepared last weekend?

With the havoc caused by ex-tropical cyclone Dovi last weekend, this is a good time to review and stock up your household emergency supplies.

In an emergency, you could be stuck at home for three days or more. Figure out what supplies you need and make a plan. Some suggestions include:

- Water for three days or more — at least 9 litres for every person.
- Long-lasting food that doesn't need cooking (unless you have a camping stove or gas barbecue) and food for babies and pets.
- First aid kit and any medications you require
- Toilet paper and large plastic buckets for an emergency toilet.

For more details and help for you and your whānau to be prepared for an emergency visit getready.govt.nz

Did you know?

A tap dripping at 1 drop per second is about 31 and a half million drops per year. This loses nearly 10,500 litres of water per year.

This is enough drinking water for 1,300 people a year. Or enough water for 1 person for all daily activities including showering, cooking, drinking water and household use for about 80 days.

It's super important to check that all taps are turned off properly when not being used and to fix any leaking taps on your property.

This message has been brought to you by our Water and Waste Education Officer. Keep an eye out for more 'Did you know?' features in our Central Link and on our Facebook page.
